

The Eye of Time

Many believe this eye has mystical powers. Some powers spoke of have been that it can read the past, the present, and future. Some call it the all knowing eye. Some also believe it to be a time piece. However, Detective Mark Nichols knows different. After all, this piece had helped him spiral to fame in just six months by solving many cold cases that were thought to be unsolvable. However, the time has come for Mark to make a choice. The origins are calling and he can either choose to give up the piece, or go with them to be its protector. This would leave everyone and everything he loved behind here on the plain of Earth. The catch, he could never return here. For the knowledge the Origins hold is just too powerful for humans to understand.

Mark has a tough choice to make. But he doesn't have much and he knows that to be this protector will be a great achievement for him. He tells everyone he knows about this awesome job he's been tagged for. They support his choice to go with the Origins as Mark's people truly believe in them. To go with the Origins is a once in a lifetime achievement.

He leaves his family of his wife and daughter along with a few friends. They see him off and know the Eye of Time will be safe in his hands. The adventures begin for Mark once he crosses over the plans. The plans of the ROLTH system are far and deep. Earth being part of the system opens up many new possibilities.

The Origins knew this, and this was why they chose Earth. And Mark being Mark, the great detective, they wanted and knew he was special. When they arrived to the Red-Orange realm of Cyntralus, Mark was still in awe that he traveled outside of Earth and into space. Here he'd make his new home and be among the Gods of the universe.
